Aims and scope

The Journal of Contemporary Development and Management (JCD&MS) is a national peer-reviewed journal dedicated to connecting research to practice. JCD&MS recognises the value of qualitative, quantitative and mixed/interrelated methods in analysis of data. The journal seeks to be relevant both to a core disciplinary constituency of Alternative Providers of education, of Universities as well as a broader readership. It is the official research journal of London Churchill College (LCC) and actively encourages contributions from individuals and other educational institutes.

All manuscripts published in JCD&MS are double-blind peer reviewed by accomplished scholars in the subject area of the manuscript and in the disciplinary approach used
